

Condé Nast Traveler

DATE: 7.1.15
UMV: 42 Million

3. Pink Sands Beach, Harbour Island, Bahamas

Miles of pink sand beaches stretch along the coast of Harbour Island in the Bahamas. The beaches get their color from red and pink shelled marine creatures called foraminifera that live in the coral reef off the island's coast. --Lauren Kilberg

